You have not heard nothing from Old Moore in a long time. I am in Earle's old drug store on the corner. I am just battle-whanging along selling beef and one thing and another. But now we come to facts: I want to buy your dry hides, green hides, raw hides and all other kinds of hides, also your seed cotton and cotton seeds. I want some sheep, I want some pork; I can't tell hardly what I do want. The old market.

High Praise.

A story told by John Ross Dix in his "Pulpit Portraits" shows how strong a current of life ran in the veins of Dr. Lyman Beecher when he had passed the allotted threescore years and ten.

When about seventy-five years of age, he spent a fortnight in the eastern part of Maine. A party of gentlemen at Calais went with him some thirty miles up a series of lakes to Indian territories.

When about to embark upon a chain of lakes in the birch canoes, the Indian guide, Etienne, rather objected to so old a man attempting the adventure, fearing that he would give out.

The doctor paddled with the best of the youngsters; caught more trout than all the party together and returned each day from the various tramps in the lead; ate his fish on a rock, with a sea biscuit for a trencher and fingers for knives and forks; slept on the ground upon hemlock branches under the tent, and at length the Indian guide went from the extreme of depreciation to the highest expression of admiration in his power, saying: "Ah, old man, all Indian!"

found him rather blue this morning." "Oh, that was for a personal reason. He is sensitive about turning gray so soon."—Baltimore American.

Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Association.

Chartered Under the Laws of South Carolina.

G. N. C. Boleman, President; J. J. McSwain, Vice-President; H. J. Southern, Gen. Treasurer, W. P. Hicks, Gen. Secretary.

The Carolina Mutual is a Home Institution and all the details of its management have been arranged with special reference to the convenience and protection of its policy holders.

Chapters have been organized in Greenville, Anderson, Greenwood, Spartanburg and Cherokee counties. The Anderson Chapter is nearly full, and the other Chapters are growing very fast. One thousand members constitute a Chapter. All healthy white people from 15 to 60 years of age are eligible to membership.

Entrance fee: 15 to 30 years of age $4, 30 to 40 $5, 40 to 50 $6, 50 to 60 $7; assessment at death $1.15. Any applicant for membership can designate which Chapter he or she desires to be placed in.

W. P. Hicks, Secretary Greenville Chapter; J. C. Payne, Secretary Anderson Chapter; R. J. Gant, Secretary Spartanburg Chapter; W. M. Austell, Secretary Cherokee Chapter.

This is absolutely a Home Institution. Why insure in other states when you have a better and cheaper institution at your own door?

The money to pay each death claim is always on hand and deposited in a bank in the county where the Chapter is located. Could any place be safer?
